

Hallamore's mid-sized multi-axle transporter is the 175 ton capacity Trail-King lowbed. This trailer offers the necessary lengths and axle spacings for obtaining load permits in this super load category - although the length is 182', the transporter has four different steering points and is operated with three men. This allows it to maneuver around areas that a more standard 13 axle rig would not be able to make. The unit also has a crabbing capability that will also help with the engineering of longer span structures. We have an 18' bed extension for this unit that will extend the standard bed length of 32' up to 50' in length. The capacity remains at 175 tons in this configuration. This transporter also comes with a load leveling ability that keeps the load from leaning on the most challenging of turns.